

MR. MCGOWAN: My name is Tom McGowan, Las

20 Vegas resident, M-C-G-O-W-A-N, Thomas.

21 It's abundantly evident on multiple action
22 grounds that it is scientifically technologically
23 impossible to guarantee the safe secure and human 24 intrusion impervious transporting storage of high-level
25 nuclear waste to an underground geologic repository via 0018

1 any combination of natural and design engineered
2 artificial barriers, statistical, problematic modeling
3 and institutional controls over any substantially
4 endearing term, either Yucca Mountain, Nevada, or 5 elsewhere nationally, or anywhere on the planet.

6 Since January of 1990, and thereafter
7 repeatedly to date, I have personally submitted this 8 irrefutable factual information to, quote, unquote,
9 you, as well as to the NAS/NRC, the U.S. NRC, the U.S.
10 EPA, the NWTRB, the NTS/CAB, and the directors of the 11 National SSABs and all nuclear waste pertinent federal,
12 state, regional and local entities and agencies,
13 apparently to no avail, since you adamantly choose to 14 persist in a limited special interest of 15 expediency-driven state of denial in furtherance of a 16 wholly subjective agenda ensured adversely impacted 17 upon human and all other species of organic life as 18 well as the natural environment requisite to sustain
19 life on historically unprecedented human and universal 20 scale, continuing for the rest of geologic time and
